

Pro Archia Vocabulary (Sections 15-21) quispiam, quaepiam, quippiam, someone prodo, -ere, -didi, -itum, to hand down doctrina, -ae, instruction, teaching effero, -ferre, -tuli, -latus, to lift up; remove laus, laudis f. praise erudio, -ire, -ivi, -itus, to educate confirmo (1) to establish habitus, -us m. quality, character prope adv. almost, nearly moderatus, -a, -um, temperate, moderate exsto, -stare, -stiti, to emerge, stand out, exist fateor, -eri, fassus sum, to confess, admit adiungo, -ere, -iunxi, -iunctus, to add saepius comp. adv. more often valeo, -ere, valui, to be strong, have power or influence contendo, -ere, -tendi, -tentus, to assert eximius, -a, -um, special, outstanding inlustris, -e, illustrious, famous accedo, -ere, -cessi, to approach, go to conformatio, -ionis f. formal training nescioquid indecl. something or other praeclarus, -a, -um, glorious, distinguished soleo, -ere, solitus sum, to be accustomed exsisto, -ere, -stiti, to come into being, emerge, arise continens, -entis, self-restrained fortis, -e, brave doctus, -a, -um, educated, learned senex, senis m. old man profecto adv. surely, certainly percipio, -ere, -cepi, -ceptus, to acquire, perceive colo, -ere, colui, cultum, to cultivate; foster; worship adiuvo (1) to aid, help confero, -ferre, -tuli, -latus (refl. with se) to go, betake oneself fructus, -us m. advantage, gain, profit ostendo, -ere, -tendi, -tentus, to show, reveal delectatio, -ionis f. (source of) pleasure peto, -ere, -ivi, -itum, to seek; ask; aim for; attack opinor, -ari, -atus sum, to believe remissio, -ionis f. relaxation liberalis, -e, decent, gentlemanly aetas, -atis f. age acuo, -ere, acui, acutus, to sharpen; make keen; arouse, incite senectus, -utis f. old age oblecto (1) to delight, amuse, entertain secundus, -a, -um, favorable orno (1) to adorn, decorate perfugium, -i, refuge, shelter solacium, -i, solace, consolation praebeo, -ere, -bui, -bitus, to offer, supply impedio, -ire, -ivi, -itum, to impede, block foris adv. outside; abroad pernocto (1) to spend the night peregrinor, -ari, -atus sum, to travel abroad rusticor, -ari, -atus sum, to stay in the countryside atingo, -ere, attingi, attactus, to touch sensus, -us m. perception, sense gusto (1) to taste agrestis, -e, boorish, unrefined durus, -a, -um, hard; dull; coarse nuper adv. recently commoveo, -ere, -movi, -motus, to disturb propter prep. + acc. on account of venustas, -atis f. loveliness, charm, grace motus, -us m. motion, movement concilio (1) to procure, get; win over quotiens, how many times benignitas, -atis f. kindness quoniam conj. because genus, generis n. type, kind, style diligenter adv. diligently, with care attendo, -ere, -i, -tus, to listen to, pay attention to versus, -us m. (line of) verse; poetry commuto (1) to change; exchange sententia, -ae, opinion, thought; sentence accurate adv. carefully cogitate adv. thoughtfully probo (1) to approve, commend vetus, -eris adj. old, long-standing pervenio, -ire, -veni, -ventus, to arrive diligio, -ere, dilexi, dilectus, to love, cherish admiror, -ari, -atus sum, to admire eruditus, -a, -um, learned, accomplished accipio, -ere, -cepi, -ceptus, to receive praeceptum, -i, instruction consto, -are, -stiti, to consist of (+ ex) vis f. force; power excito (1) to rouse, stir, inspire quasi adv. as it were, as if spiritus, -us m. breath; inspiration inflo (1) to blow into; inspire quare, for what reason, why; wherefore sanctus, -a, -um, sacred; righteous; upright munus, -eris n. gift; offering; duty commendo (1) to entrust, recommend apud prep. + acc. among, before, with, near barbaria, -ae, barbarism, brutality violo (1) to violate bestia, -ae, beast, animal saepe adv. often immanis, -e, huge, vast, monstrous cantus, -us m. song, singing flecto, -ere, flexi, flectus, to bend, turn, influence consisto, -ere, -stiti, to come to a stop, stand still instituo, -ere, -ui, -utum, to form, set up; instruct, teach vindico (1) to claim; demand repeto, -ere, -ivi, -itum, to claim, demand itaque adv. and so; accordingly delubrum, -i, shrine, temple dedico (1) to dedicate permultus, -a, -um, very many praeterea adv. moreover, besides pugno (1) to fight

contendo, -ere, -tendi, -tentus, to assert, argue alienus, -a, -um, belonging to another; foreign expeto, -ere, -ivi, -itus, to seek after, try to obtain vivus, -a, -um, alive, living voluntas, -atis f. free will, choice praesertim adv. especially repudio (1) to refuse, reject confero, -ferre, -tuli, -latus, to devote, apply, confer celebro (1) to praise, extol, celebrate iucundus, -a, -um, agreeable aversus, -a, -um, averse (to) mando (1) to entrust, hand over praeconium, -i, public announcement patior, pati, passus sum, to suffer; allow ait, aiunt defect. verb say quaero, -ere, -sivi, -situm, to inquire libenter adv. freely praedico (1) to proclaim item adv. likewise; as well eximie adv. especially gero, -ere, gessi, gestus, to wear; wage (war); do, perform varietas, -atis f. variety verso (1) to turn; be engaged in (passive) exprimo, -ere, -pressi, -pressus, to make, produce, express, portray inlustro (1) to make famous regius, -a, -um, royal ops, opis f. power, strength, wealth regio, -ionis f. region vallo (1) to surround, wall manus, -us f. hand; band (of soldiers) copiae, -arum f.pl. troops fundo, -ere, fudi, fusus, to pour; rout consilium, -i, counsel, advice; council impetus, -us m. attack, assault os, oris n. mouth; countenance (pl.) fauces, faucium f.pl. throat; narrow pass eripio, -ere, eripui, ereptus, to snatch away servo (1) to defend, preserve dimico (1) to struggle, fight interficio, -ere, -feci, -fectus, to kill deprimo, -ere, -pressi, -pressus, to press down; sink (ship) hostis, hostis m./f. enemy classis, classis f. fleet pugna, -ae, fight, battle tropaeum, -i, trophy of victory monumentum, -i, monument, reminder effero, -ere, -tuli, -latus, to lift up, extol; carry off; remove